Consultancy for conducting an Endline Evaluation on “Increasing Income of Entrepreneurs through Production and Marketing of Safe Edible Mustard Oil” financed by PKSf under RMTP Project.

About the organization

Proyas Manobik Unnayan Society is a local non-government organization in Chapai Nawabganj. The organization has been rendering its services continuously for the socio-economic development, increasing community awareness and self-dependence with the support from different government and non-government organizations.

Proyas Manobik Unnayan Society (PMUS) developed as a national non-government voluntary organization in 1988, with a devoted commitment for economic and social progress of the marginalized group's like- deprived women, children, and the disabled. PMUS has evolved significantly by extending its reach and impact across 73 branches covering 2292 villages, 175 unions, and 26 upazilas with 7 districts. With a team of 1096 experienced and dedicated staff members. PMUS involved at least 15% of youth and 35% of women in designing any projects. PMUS has established a robust network for collaborative action among NGO's, donor agencies, development partners, government institution, as well as grassroots organizations and professional groups. Beyond its core microfinance program, PMUS has fronted numerous non-financial initiatives by addressing critical needs in education, healthcare, sanitation, and agriculture. These initiatives provide essential services such as education for underprivileged children, primary healthcare for rural communities, health awareness campaigns. Moreover, PMUS offers support in the form of agricultural machinery, vermicomposting, extension services, training, and market linkage to empower smallholder farmers and potential entrepreneurs.

About the Project
